

Graduate Certification

Graduates of the Danville Regional Medical Center School of Health Professions Radiologic Technology Program are eligible to sit for the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists Certification Examination (the Registry). Radiologic Technologists must in most states be certified by the ARRT.

The American Registry of Radiologic Technologists®

ARRT is the world's largest credentialing organization that seeks to ensure high quality patient care in radiologic technology. We test and certify technologists and administer continuing education and ethics requirements for their annual registration.

Our Mission

The American Registry of Radiologic Technologists promotes high standards of patient care by recognizing qualified individuals in medical imaging, interventional procedures and radiation therapy.

The modalities of interest include, but are not necessarily limited to: radiography, nuclear medicine technology, radiation therapy, cardiovascular-interventional radiography, mammography, computed tomography, magnetic resonance imaging, quality management, sonography, bone densitometry, vascular sonography, cardiac-interventional radiography, vascular-interventional radiography, and breast sonography.

In support of this mission, the ARRT:

- Adopts and upholds standards for educational preparation for entry into the profession;
- Adopts and upholds standards of professional behavior consistent with the level of responsibility required by professional practice;
- Develops and administers examinations which assess the knowledge and skills underlying the intelligent performance of the tasks typically required by professional practice in the modality.

In addition to initial recognition, ARRT provides a mechanism to recognize individuals who continue to demonstrate their qualifications through adherence to the standards of professional behavior and compliance with the continuing education requirements. For more information contact us at:
